Nevada Entrepreneur Joins National Business Advocacy Coalition as Co-Chair

Longtime Business Owner and Small Business Advocate Shaundell Newsome of Las Vegas Joins Businesses for Responsible Tax Reform Leadership

Washington, D.C.-- Shaundell Newsome, a longtime entrepreneur and small business advocate, has been selected as the new co-chair of national business advocacy coalition Businesses for Responsible Tax Reform (BRTR). Newsome joins fellow Co-Chairs Frank Knapp Jr., President & CEO of the South Carolina Small Business Chamber of Commerce, and Anne Zimmerman, founder and owner of Zimmerman & Co CPAs Inc.

“I’ve always said there’s a need for tax reform that helps small businesses, but the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act was far more beneficial to large corporations than to small business owners,” said Newsome. “Businesses for Responsible Tax Reform has been a strong voice challenging that imbalance. I’m excited to join as co-chair and advocate for policies that help small businesses like mine. Small businesses drive our economy, create jobs and are the cornerstones of our communities. Our leaders need to do more to help us thrive.”

BRTR, a coalition of small business leaders founded in 2017, wants a tax code that is fiscally responsible, creates a level playing field for all businesses, grows the economy and works for our nation’s 30 million small business owners. BRTR’s extensive polling finds the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act failed to achieve those goals. It has not helped small businesses’ profitability nor has it helped small business owners hire, grow or invest in their businesses. What’s more, two-thirds want the 40% tax cut corporations received from the law to be partially rolled back to fund policies that will help small firms.
